ELEGANT, LIGHT AND BRIGHT

828 FOOTHILL LANE, OJAI, CA 93023

Located within walking distance to downtown Ojai, this elegant family home has it all. Light and bright, you will love the open spacious floor plan. The beautifully detailed kitchen and den open to a sunroom, with a massive rock fireplace, which overlooks the private backyard and swimming pool. There are four fireplaces, a large office, downstairs primary bedroom with a 'spa-like' bath, formal living room and formal dining room - all with incredible details, balconies and patios to bring the outside in. This property, just over an acre, has an art studio, garden sheds, meandering pathways, a bridge leading to a five star chicken coop, orchards, vegetable and rose gardens, wonderful mature trees, views of the mountains and yes a Tree House. Plenty of room for your family and friends! There is a one bedroom attached guest quarters. Completely private and quiet and yet so close to shops, restaurants, and the Ojai Arcade. Don't miss this lovely, detailed home.

Welcome To The Ojai!

A Letter From the President

Credit: Holly Roberts/OVTC

Pac-12 Associate Commissioner Erik Price and Carolyn Burke.

From the Ojai Valley Tennis Club Board Members, Committee Chairs and the more than 600 volunteers, we say welcome to The Ojai!

Thank you to all of our volunteers who have worked tirelessly to bring you the 122nd edition of The Ojai Tennis Tournament. Each tournament has special meaning, and this year is no different. We have two landmark occasions happening during this year's tournament. We are excited to welcome Mike and Bob Bryan, the all-time greatest doubles players, as the 2024 Ojai Tournament Honorees. Before going on to win a record 16 Grand Slam titles, the Bryans ruled the 1990s at The Ojai capturing eight junior and collegiate titles from 1993 to 1998. This will also be the last year that we will be hosting the Pac-12 Championships, a tradition that dates back more than 70 years! There will be a touch of sadness as we say goodbye to the storied programs at USC, UCLA, Stanford, Cal and the others. But we know there are great things ahead for the crown jewel of Southern California tennis as we look to re-imagine what the future college events will be at The Ojai in 2025 and beyond.

We hope you will plan on joining us at our annual special event fundraiser honoring the Bryan Brothers, Friday night, April 26, at the Ojai Valley Museum. Great food will be served, along with beer and wine and a special performance from the Bryan Bros. All-Star Band. For tickets, go to www.TheOjai.net.

Maybe this is your first time experiencing the freshly squeezed orange juice, or sipping tea under the tent from the silver urns. Or, maybe you've been coming to The Ojai for years, and watching world-class tennis under the old oak and eucalyptus trees just like fans have been doing for more than 100 years. However many years it has been, we say welcome back and we hope you enjoy all the great tennis and traditions at The Ojai.

Carolyn Burke

OVTC Board President

The Bryan Brothers – From Ojai Legends to All-Time Greats

— Story by Steve Pratt, Action Photos by Cynthia Lum —

Who could have known it at the time. I sure didn't have a clue. The year was 1992 and I was just a 22-year-old rookie sportswriter for the now defunct, 10,000-circulated Camarillo Daily News fresh out of journalism school right over the hill at Pepperdine University. On the first day at my $300-a-week job the sports editor on our three-man staff hailed me over to his cubicle.

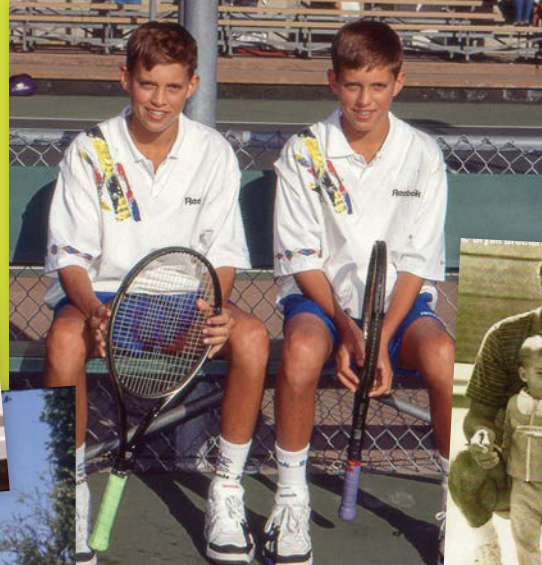

"We have these 13-year-old identical twins from Somis," Tom said. "Mom and Dad run the Cabrillo Racquet Club. Say they just got back from Paris and played some international event. Dad says we need to pay them a visit. Says they're going to be something special."

I still had years to go before my old-school newspaper cynicism kicked in and I actually perked up, interested in his suggestion. "Sure," I said. "Tell him I'll meet the boys tomorrow at the club." Little did I know then that brothers Mike and Bob Bryan who sat before me – in what would be the first of dozens of interviews – would turn out to be the GDTOAT – the Greatest Doubles Team of All-Time.

A year after my first byline in the Daily News, the larger Ventura Star-Free Press and its parent company, Scripps Howard, gobbled up the area's five smaller daily newspapers and consolidated into one newspaper – the Ventura County Star.

I would now be joining a staff of 18, and at our first meeting was volunteered as the county's tennis columnist – because no one else raised their hand.

That would mean covering The Ojai Tennis Tournament, an event I had only heard and read about growing up some 125 miles north on the Central Coast. This was the tournament started at the turn of the 20th century. A place where all the greats had played, including Jack Kramer, Bobby Riggs, Billie Jean King, Stan Smith, Arthur Ashe and Jimmy Connors.

It took only one cup of freshly squeezed Pixie orange juice and I was hooked.

This is where I got to witness the greatness of the Bryan Brothers for the first time. They rattled off doubles wins during my first year covering The Ojai, starting in 1993 in the Boys' 16s doubles, and repeated that title in 1994.

In 1995, they played for Rio Mesa High and competed against SoCal's best in winning the Boys' Interscholastic title, and doing it again in 1996. As a Stanford freshman in 1997, Bob entered and won the singles, and the sibling pairing led the Cardinal to the Thacher Cup team title.

No. 1 Doubles Team - 10 Years

Doubles Team of the Decade

In the spring of 1998, I had the idea to print an Ojai Tennis program and put the Bryans on the cover. I asked Mike and Bob if they would sign some copies and they happily obliged. I dropped off a box at the Stanford hotel where the Chantico Inn sits now on Ojai Ave. and chatted up the boys as they sat in their boxers signing away.

They won the doubles again that year, playing their final match at The Ojai on Libbey Park's Court 1, and they decided to turn pro shortly after leading Stanford to the NCAA title in May of 1998.

There were greater mountains to climb for the Bryans and myself. As they embarked on the pro tour that summer of 1998, so too did I take a leap, landing a job downtown for the Los Angeles Times' Sports section.

I would run into the boys over the next 12 or 15 years at the L.A. Open, in Atlanta and was there to witness their final Grand Slam win at the US Open in 2014, while working for the USTA, and attended their final press conference. I kept in contact with their father, Wayne, and managed the public relations for the Bryan Bros. Foundation for a few years at well-attended events at Spanish Hills Country Club in Camarillo. I was at the Greenbrier in West Virginia during the COVID-19 pandemic working for World TeamTennis the night the Bryans announced they would be retiring from the game. Just last month I handled the public relations for the Netflix Slam in Las Vegas, where the twins played a doubles exhibition.

When word got around that this would be the year The Ojai would honor the Bryans, I got a little nostalgic thinking back on their career, and mine. All the times they spotted me and called me out during busy press conferences, yelling "The Prattster!" I would just smile and put my head down, a little embarrassed but proud that I had been along for the ride and a very small part of their incredible journey as the greatest doubles team to ever play the sport.

Tennis, Tea & Talk – The Ojai’s Best Tradition

APRIL 24-28, 2024

Tradition. Look no further than Ojai’s Libbey Park during the last weekend in April to experience the very definition of tradition on magnificent display. As it has happened for more than 120 years, under the stately oaks near center court, a very special brand of Ojai hospitality is offered to all who attend the Ojai Valley Tennis Tournament.

Holly Roberts/OVTC

The Tea Tent – The Ojai’s best tradition – was inspired by tournament founder William Thacher. Brother of the founder of The Thacher School, William was an accomplished tennis player during his time at Yale. He eventually headed west and resided on the campus of his brother’s boarding school. He would place a sign with a “T” on it in his window, signaling to students that he was available for tea and cookies. The inherently rewarding conversation that ensued while sharing a cup of his favorite beverage is what William enjoyed most and he infused this ritual into his newly founded tennis tournament.

In response to growing popularity, a pavilion-style tent was donated in 1925, establishing the Tea Tent in the form we know today. The tent was placed near center court so both tournament goers and competitors could enjoy a bit of refreshment between matches.

Inevitably, comparisons have been made over the decades between The Ojai’s tradition of tea and that of another famous tournament that was born in roughly the same era -- Wimbledon. Harry Maiden, a well-respected umpire who worked at both The Ojai and Wimbledon, is known to have remarked, “There are only two civilized tournaments in the world, The Ojai and Wimbledon, because they both serve tea.”

But The Ojai’s tradition of tea and tennis is renown in its own right. Visit the Tea Tent and you will be enveloped by the small-town warmth of nicely attired volunteers whose sole purpose is to make you feel like a welcomed guest. The tea table, draped in white linens and flanked with two glistening silver urns, sets the stage. Elegant flowers, expertly arranged by members of the Ojai Valley Garden Club, signal the specialness of the occasion. Local high school students prepare cookie trays and community members serve cookies and pour more than 1,500 complimentary cups of tea into delicate china teacups for all who come. Universally beloved, multiple generations of some families have participated in the handing down of this treasured tradition, including several members of the present-day Thacher family.

Today, the Tea Tent is still a sanctuary for the simple pleasures of tea and conversation, a place to honor competitors in their triumphs and misfortunes, and to relish the relaxing company of the tournament community—just as William conceived it, many generations ago.

Please join us for “tennis, tea and talk” and enjoy The Ojai’s best tradition!

Tea and cookies will be served in Libbey Park near center court as follows:

Thursday 1:00 - 4:00; Friday 2:30 - 5:00; Saturday 1:00 - 4:00; and Sunday 1:00 -4:00.

The Ojai Says Farewell To The Pac-12 Championships

This year marks the final Pac-12 Tennis Championships

As the Pac-12 Conference nears its disbanding at the end of the current school year, and The Ojai is on the verge of losing its home teams and traditional tennis powerhouses – USC and UCLA – to the Big 10 Conference, all the schools at Libbey Park may be competing for a last piece of Ojai history.

No matter what happens, to paraphrase the famous line from the 1942 epic film, “Casablanca”, this week’s Pac-12 competitors “will always have The Ojai.”

Pac-12 tennis has long had a love affair with The Ojai. The storied history linking the Pac-12 with The Ojai dates back to the original Pacific Coast Conference, which started playing men’s conference matches as part of the tournament in 1954, with the women beginning Pac-10 Conference matches at The Ojai in 1987.

Even pre-dating that era, many of the original conference schools sent players to The Ojai as far back as 1911, competing in the broader Men’s Intercollegiate Championships.

In its 62nd year of participation at The Ojai in 2012, the Pac-12 men switched its competitive format from an individual tournament to a single-elimination, dual-match team tournament with the winning school receiving the Pac-12 Conference’s automatic entry into the NCAA Division I Championships.

The Pac-12 women followed suit – changing its conference championships at The Ojai from individuals to a dual-match team event – in 2017. Since then, Stanford’s women have been the lone holders of the Pac-12 crown, winning the Pac-12 team title every year it was contested at Libbey Park (The Ojai was not held in 2020 or 2021 due to the COVID-19 pandemic).

PAC-12 CONFERENCE WOMEN’S PREVIEW

Paul Del Signore/Pac-12

Kimmi Hance returns for the Bruins.

Not surprisingly, the Stanford Cardinal is the heavy favorite to ride off into that picturesque Ojai sunset wearing the last Pac-12 tiara. Stanford’s women, which most recently won the NCAA Division I national championship in 2019 and reached the national semifinals last year, only seems to reload its roster year after year.

The top of the Cardinal’s lineup features juniors Connie Ma and Alexandra Yepifanova, graduate student Angelica Blake, sophomore Alexis Blokhina as well as freshman and San Diego native Katherine Hui, who won the U.S. Open’s junior girls singles championship in 2023. Blake and Yepifanova reached the quarterfinals and Round of 16, respectively, in last year’s NCAA Division I Women’s Singles Championships.

Among this week’s event highlights, The Ojai will host the reigning NCAA Division I women’s singles champion – Tian Fangran of UCLA. The sophomore sensation aims to lead the Bruins to a final, moment of Pac-12 glory alongside freshman Bianca Fernandez and juniors Elise Wagle and Kimmi Hance.

Keeping the Cardinal company near the top of the NCAA Division I rankings, Stanford’s stiffest opposition for retaining its Pac-12 title. The Trojan squad is stacked with top-end collegiate talent in graduate student Eryn Cayetano, sophomore Emma Charney and juniors Grace Piper and Snow Han.

PAC-12 CONFERENCE MEN'S PREVIEW

Either UCLA, USC or Stanford has won every William L. Thacher Challenge Trophy at The Ojai since the conference's schools began competing for the team award in 1951. Since the Pac-12 switched to its current dual match format at The Ojai in 2012, USC has won six conference crowns, including the last three, while UCLA won the other four.

However, as this week's Pac-12 men's championships figure to be a more open competition, this last conference title could become the first for an Arizona school. Through the non-conference portion of the season, Arizona and Arizona State were the Pac-12's highest-ranked teams, nationally, at least.

Jeff Liang/Pac-12

Arizona sophomore Jay Friend holds down the No. 2 spot.

Leading the charge for the Wildcats is junior Colton Smith, who won the Easter Bowl 18s doubles title and reached the Round of 16 at the US Open's Boys' Championships as a junior player in 2021. Rounding out a well-balanced Arizona lineup, Japanese recruit Jay Friend, Norwegian Herman Hoeyeraal, Senior Gustaf Strom, from Sweden, and Canadian graduate student Nick Lagaev.

Arizona State is led by junior Murphy Cassone and freshman Bor Artnak of Slovenia, while Calabasas native Jacob Bullard and Newport Beach's Max McKennon will enjoy one final homecoming to The Ojai as seniors attempting to help guide the Sun Devils to a Pac-12 title.

Cassone and Arizona's Smith are, arguably, the conference's leading singles players and are legitimate NCAA Division I singles championship contenders come May. Cassone reached the NCAA's singles semifinals in 2023.

USC, a program enriched by its 21 NCAA national championships, faced stiff competition through this year's early non-conference schedule and recorded quality victories over San Diego and Michigan despite losing its top-two singles players from 2023. The Trojans are heavily influenced with international players and are anchored by Hungarian junior Peter Makk, Dutch senior Lodewijk Weststrate and Ukrainian freshman Volodymyr Lakubenko.

UCLA has an infusion of Southern California flavor to this year's team. The Bruins are led up front by one of the Pac-12's top singles players in senior Govind Nanda, from Redlands. The top half of the Bruins' roster is further fortified by juniors Giacomo Revelli (from England) and Timothy Li, a San Fernando Valley resident. Freshman Spencer Johnson, from Ladera Ranch, brings UCLA fresh firepower.

Jeff Liang/Pac-12

USC is led by junior Peter Makk, at right.

Stanford's pedigree can never be discounted at the Pac-12 finals and the Cardinal features junior Max Basing and sophomore Nishesh Basavareddy, who narrowly dropped a three-set thriller to eventual NCAA Division I champion Ethan Quinn in the third round of the 2023 NCAA singles championships. Sophomore Samir Banerjee was a 2019 Easter Bowl 16s singles champion.

Two of the best Americans (and Southern Californians) who graduated from the junior ranks last year – Kyle Kang, from Fullerton, and Rancho Santa Fe native Hudson Rivera – are already significant contributors for Stanford.

Oregon and Washington bring solid teams to The Ojai and are backed by upper-echelon individual talents – senior Quinn Vandecasteele for the Ducks, and juniors Cesar Bouchelaghem and Dzianis Zharyn for the Huskies.

While these last Pac-12 champions might forever leave The Ojai after this week, they won't be forgotten. Rather, they will sign off on a final chapter within The Ojai's record book.

OPEN DIVISION PREVIEW

South Africa's Simmonds Looking to Three-Peat

Is the third time a charm for Chanel Simmonds? The popular 31-year-old from Kempton Park, South Africa, is currently teaching tennis at the Barnes Tennis Center in San Diego. But for the past few Aprils Simmonds has made the three-hour journey up to The Ojai to play in the women's open event. The Women's Open Singles champion the past two years, Simmonds is once again entered and will vie to win the title for the third consecutive year.

This year, a total of $20,000 in prize money will be handed out in women's and men's singles. Qualifying matches begin on Tuesday, April 23 at the Ojai Valley Athletic Club and the matches are free to watch. Thursday-Saturday matches will take place at the Ojai Valley Inn with the finals moving to Libbey Park on Sunday.

Simmonds has won 23 singles and 29 doubles titles on the ITF World Tour circuit. In 2022, Simmonds beat Rebecca Lynn of Newport Beach in the singles final and last year downed Leyden Games of Irvine to win the coveted title of Ojai Women's Open champion. It's an event that began in 1900. Recent winners include current world top 20 doubles player Ena Shibahara (2015-16). Others Hall of Famers who have won the Women's Open division include Tracy Austin, Billie Jean King, Louise Brough, Dodo Cheney and her mother May Sutton Bundy, who first won the event in 1902.

On the men's side, last year's doubles finalist Timothy Sah is entered, as is former UCLA Bruin Drew Baird and former Big West Player of the Year at UC Santa Barbara Morgan Mays from Malibu. Sah played collegiately at Stanford and won his first Ojai title in 2017 taking the Open Doubles title with Keegan Smith.

The Weil Academy has two players entered in the men's open division and two in the women. Weil seniors UC-Santa Barbara bound Matei Gavrea and Bucknell University commit Nelson Alapi will play in the men's while University of Penn commit Claire Zhang and University Illinois/Chicago signee Keke Liu are entered in the women's. Liu was a Girls' 18s finalist at The Ojai last year.

CCCAA STATE CHAMPIONSHIPS PREVIEW

College of the Desert Men Look to Dominate Once Again At The Ojai

It's been a trend the past few years at The Ojai in the Men's Singles Division as a College of the Desert player has faced a fellow teammate in the past two California Community College Athletic Association singles finals at The Ojai.

Last year, COD's Joseph Corse beat teammate Hernan Olivas (College of the Desert) as Corse also won the doubles with teammate Eita Ishikawa.

The CCCAA team championships will take place in Ventura on Wednesday. Last year, the College of the Desert won the men's title and American River College the women's.

This year, watch for Ian Rabtsevich and Gerardo Dominguez as they are the top two COD players having traded off at No. 1 and 2 singles.

The COD men's team will look to repeat as state champions in 2024.

On the women's side, Nicole West beat COD's Hana Moss for the 2023 women's singles title while Moss teamed with Emunah Daffon to win the doubles.

Ventura College men's and women's Coach Nelson Emery will once again bring a strong contingent of players to The Ojai, including his son Cody Ray Emery. Also qualifying for the 3C2A singles draw are Rafael Matias and Julian Tellez.

On the women's side for VC, Bella Moga from Ventura will play in the singles draw. The Lady Pirates are also led by Alexis Schmidt from Oxnard and Nicole Iannacone, who played her high school tennis at Villanova Prep in Ojai.

DIVISION III PREVIEW

Tournament organizers are proud to welcome back the Division III men's and women's events at The Ojai. Following a one-year hiatus, teams from schools such as Cal Lutheran, University of Mary Hardin Baylor, Occidental, Redlands, Whittier and Letourneau will compete.

The women will vie for the Ted Ducey Trophy first presented at The Ojai in 1998. Ducey was the longtime women's tennis coach at Claremont Mudd-Scripps. The men will battle for the Jim Verdieck Trophy, also first presented in 1998, and named after the Redlands legendary coach.

Mike Gennette is coaching his 31st season at The Ojai for Cal Lutheran and is the men's and women's coach, adding the women's head coach title to his resume in 2017.

Cal Lutheran's women are led by Carmen Bukfin from Texas, who earned Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (SCIAC) Athlete of the Week honors mid-season. Luisa Garcia is the Regals No. 2 player and is from San Diego having attended the Weil Academy right here in Ojai. Maddy Ford is from Simi Valley and the No. 3 player. Lauren Sebastian is from Calabasas.

For the CLU men, Ethan Sherwood is No. 13 in the West region from Westlake Village and plays at No. 1 while Loup Sudre and Raphael Simon are No. 2 and 3, respectively, and hail from France. They are followed by Andy Hangyu Ai from China and Weil Academy.

BOYS' CIF AND JUNIORS PREVIEW

Holly Roberts/OVTC

Corona del Mar senior Niels Hoffman was a CIF singles finalist a year ago and returns to defend his Ojai title.

Last Year's Boys' CIF Finalist Hoffmann Returns

Niels Hoffmann from Corona del Mar in Newport Beach is hoping to win one more match than last year at The Ojai as the senior fell short in the 2023 Boys' CIF singles final.

A few weeks after dropping that final to current Harvard freshman James MacDonald (University High), the USC-bound Hoffmann won the Boys' CIF-SS singles title before signing his letter of intent to play for the Trojans. It will be the final Ojai for USC and their coaching staff of Ojai alums, including head coach Brett Masi, and his assistants Eric Johnson and Bryce Pereira.

Nordhoff High will have Eric Schmidt representing the Rangers in singles while Robbie Holdsworth and Rowan Gillooly are playing doubles.

The Weil Academy will once again have some strong players contest junior titles. In the Girls' 18s is junior Emmi Kolyszko from Phoenix. In the Girls' 16s is junior Waverly Potter from Edmonton, Canada. In the Boys' 16s is: Weil freshman Emmanuel Meneguetti from Brazil; and Weil eighth-graders Greylan Durkin from Las Vegas and Cayden Laughton from Portland. In the Boys' 14s is local Ojai resident Clemente Rojas.

Donations Critical To The Ojai's Continued Success

The Ojai Tennis Tournament is a wonderful and unique tradition dating back to the first event in 1896. It is put on each year by the Ojai Valley Tennis Club, Inc., a 501(c)(3) nonprofit tax-exempt organization, whose charitable mission is the promotion of interest in tennis and physical fitness by providing recreational facilities for young people and the combating of juvenile delinquency.

But The Ojai doesn't just happen.

It requires the dedicated efforts of literally hundreds of officials and volunteers, not only at tournament time but throughout the year.

It also requires money.

Alas, each year, tournament expenses have been increasing, especially as the Tennis Club continues its efforts to expand and modernize The Ojai Tournament and generally improve The Ojai experience for players and spectators alike.

In order to help offset the raising expenses the Ojai Valley Tennis Club has created a Patrons Organization.

The Patrons are individuals dedicated to financially help sustain the excellence of the Ojai Tennis Tournament and tennis overall in the Ojai Valley.

Proceeds from the Patrons are being used to make enhancements to the venerable Libbey Park and other capital improvements to various tennis facilities in Ojai. These facilities not only are essential to the conducting of The Ojai Tournament, but are used during the year by thousands of young people throughout the Ojai Valley and surrounding areas.

It is very important for the OVTC to continually have our Patron support to sustain the wonderful commitments to the tournament and youth tennis.

There are three ways to contribute to the Ojai Valley Tennis Club.

One is through the Patron organization. Contact Sandi White, sandrajwhite84@gmail.com for more information.

The second way is to make a one-time contribution by sending a check made out to Ojai Valley Tennis Club and send it to the address below:

OVTC, PO Box 482, Ojai, CA 93024

Or, if you would like to give using a credit card, please visit our website theojai.net and click on the donate button at the top of the home page and select your contribution amount.

Thank you for your continued commitment to the Ojai Tennis Tournament!
